AUSTRALIA FIRST PARTY - RECLAIMING AUSTRALIA FOR AUSTRALIANS

The Protocol for The Order Of The Toad

SALUTATION

In addressing a recipient of this Native Australian Award, “Toad” replaces the common usage of Mr/Mrs, or any other norm of address, such as those relating to profession, status, position or office.

The salutation “Toad” should be used in both verbal and written communication as an acknowledgement of the personage of the recipient.

Toad Award salutation surpasses accreditation attributes of any other Australian award.

In personal conversation, when addressing a recipient as “Toad”, the inclusion of a Christian or first name in the appellation is not required. “Toad” is consummate.

In a personal greeting, particularly when in company, the addressing of an award holder with the salutation “Toad”, should be as a loud voiced shout, as a full acknowledgement and recognition of the character of the recipient.

In written communication, it is not considered appropriate to use the letters OT [Order of the Toad], following the name of a person issued the award, This is a norm for certain bourgeois awards, but for Toads, such is considered likely to decrease community regard for same, and is therefore unsuitable. “Toad” at the start of the appellation address fully completes the protocol requirement.

The appellation “Toad” continues in usage not only whilst the recipient remains on our Native Soil, but also elsewhere. after either voluntary departure, or deportation under an Australia First Citizens' Community Order. It is a lifelong accolade.
